ALMA MATER

On the hill stands Sullins College
'Neath fair skies of blue.
May she ever stand so proudly,
Glorious to view.

Through her halls the echoes linger
Of our college days,
Comradeship and love and courage,
Loyalty and praise.

Dearest Sullins in her glory,
Ever be our pride,
And her name we'll ever cherish,
Spread it far and wide.

Lift the chorus, speed it onward,
Over hill and dale,
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail to thee, all hail!

Personal Freedom—

"Unlimited freedom is chaos."

The Echo of Greece

Edith Hamilton

"Personal Freedom—What Is It?" has been our theme of study this year at Sullins. This theme has become familiar to the freshmen as a result of the reading they were required to do last summer; and it has become more meaningful to both classes because of the seminars, discussions, and lectures we have attended this year. Therefore, we of the Sampler Staff have presented our year in terms of personal freedom.

Recently we have heard cries about, and witnessed abuses of, freedom, especially from a minority of the members of our age group in different parts of the country. Before we can demand it, by words or actions, each one of us must have a basic understanding of what personal freedom actually means.

The idea of personal freedom is two-fold; it involves responsibilities as well as privileges. Each one of us must be a contributing member of the group—the family, the college community, the city, the nation—as well as an individual developing herself to her ultimate capacity.

We have enjoyed many aspects of personal freedom in our two years at Sullins; perhaps the most important one has been the freedom to develop ourselves according to our individual talents, interests, and capabilities. We have had the freedom to choose the area in which we wish to concentrate our efforts; the amount of effort we have exerted has also been our choice. When we needed help and sought it, we always found willing and capable assistance. We have had the choice of membership in any of the numerous organizations on our campus; the small size of these groups has offered us the opportunity to develop our abilities, as well as to benefit the whole group. We have had the final choice of how we used our time at Sullins. Associated with these freedoms, we have definite responsibilities to uphold.

We have a special responsibility to uphold towards our parents for sending us here; we have obligations to our faculty members who have devoted so much of themselves to us. We also have a responsibility to society, whose norms we will someday dictate; but most of all we have a responsibility to ourselves. If we do not utilize our freedom to develop ourselves to the optimum of our capacities, ultimately we are doing the most damage to ourselves.

"Unlimited freedom is chaos"; without rules and regulations there would be no real freedom for anyone. But the most vital guidelines are not the ones written down in our Handbook or any rulebook. The most important limitations are the ones we impose on ourselves, those which insure respect for the feelings of others, as well as maximum self-development. We alone are able to set the highest goals we are capable of attaining. In the last analysis, the kind and degree of personal freedom we obtain depends upon the extent to which we uphold the responsibilities associated with it.

DEDICATION

We, the members of the Sophomore Class, are proud to dedicate our yearbook, the 1966 SAMPLER, to Mr. and Mrs. Leon B. Fleming, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, we hope that this dedication will express our gratitude for all that you have done for Sullins.

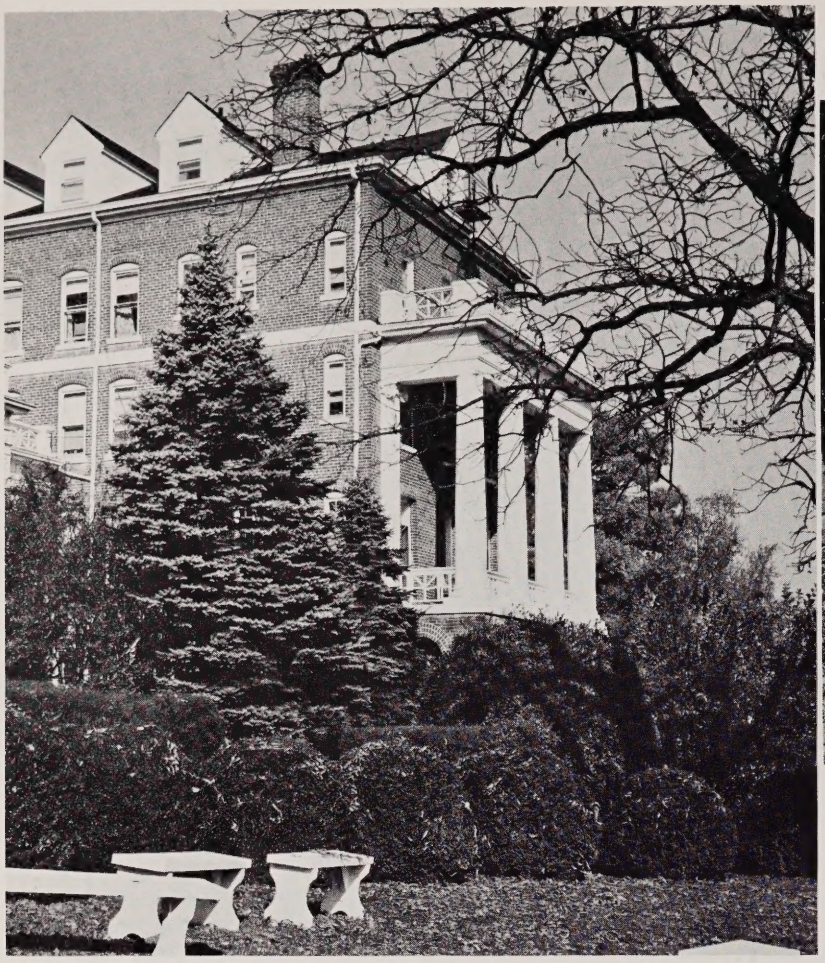
Mr. Fleming has been a member of the Sullins faculty since 1951. Mrs. Fleming, who at that time was Miss Sallie Kerner, joined the Sullins faculty in 1953. They met here on campus and were married in 1954.

As a result of the immeasurable amount of time and effort that Mr. and Mrs. Fleming have spent on their work as Choir Director and Choir Accompanist, respectively, our Choir has gained recognition, both locally and intercollegiately. With their unfaltering leadership and guidance, the Choir has given memorable performances.

Besides working with the Choir, Mr. Fleming teaches voice, music theory courses, and music humanities. Each of his students gains a finer appreciation and understanding of music. In addition to accompanying the Choir, Mrs. Fleming gives organ lessons.

Music is their avocation as well as their vocation. Outside their work at Sullins, they are active members of the Central Presbyterian Church, where Mr. Fleming directs the choir and Mrs. Fleming plays the organ.

Next year, Mr. Fleming will be on sabbatical leave. The Flemings will be at Indiana University, where he hopes to complete his doctorate. Hurry back, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming—Sullins will miss you!



Holston Hall, traditionally the dorm for upperclassmen, now houses both freshmen and sophomores.

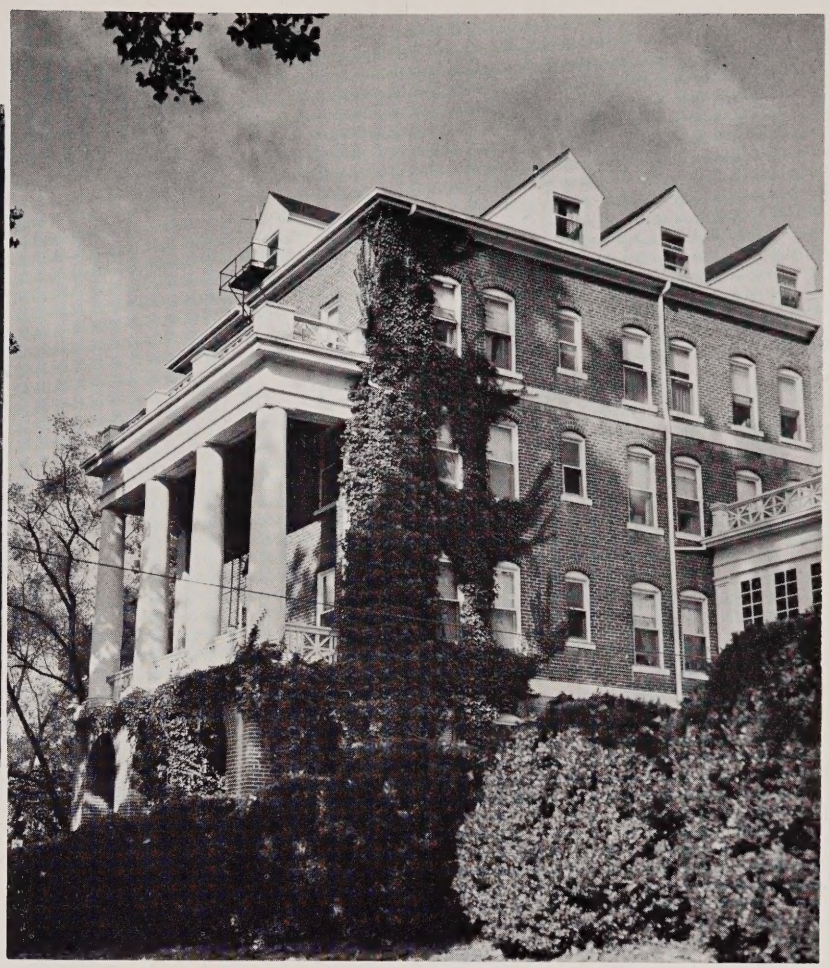
of our favorite spots for relaxation.



Reynolds Hall houses the Infirmary, as well as dormitory rooms.

SCENES

The Sullins campus is one of rolling hills and stately Georgian buildings. The well-kept campus is filled with a variety of beautiful flowers and trees. Holston, Reynolds, and Martin Halls, our dormitories; Metts Hall, our new administration and classroom building; and Baskervill Library, also a classroom building, add to the beauty of our surroundings.

Mingled with these older buildings, new structures are rapidly appearing on our campus. Each day we are able to detect a progressive change in the appearance of our new science building and our new Little Chapel. Even though we sophomores will not be able to use these buildings, we will look forward to seeing them completed when we visit our Alma Mater.

Martin Hall is our oldest and largest dormitory.

At Sullins we are not merely a number in a crowded classroom; we have the social and academic advantage of small classes and a close faculty-student relationship. In our classes, we have the freedom to speak what we think; and many differing views are expressed in our discussions. These discussions give us the initiative to read, study, and do research in order to obtain more information. Thus, we uphold the responsibility of thinking before we speak.

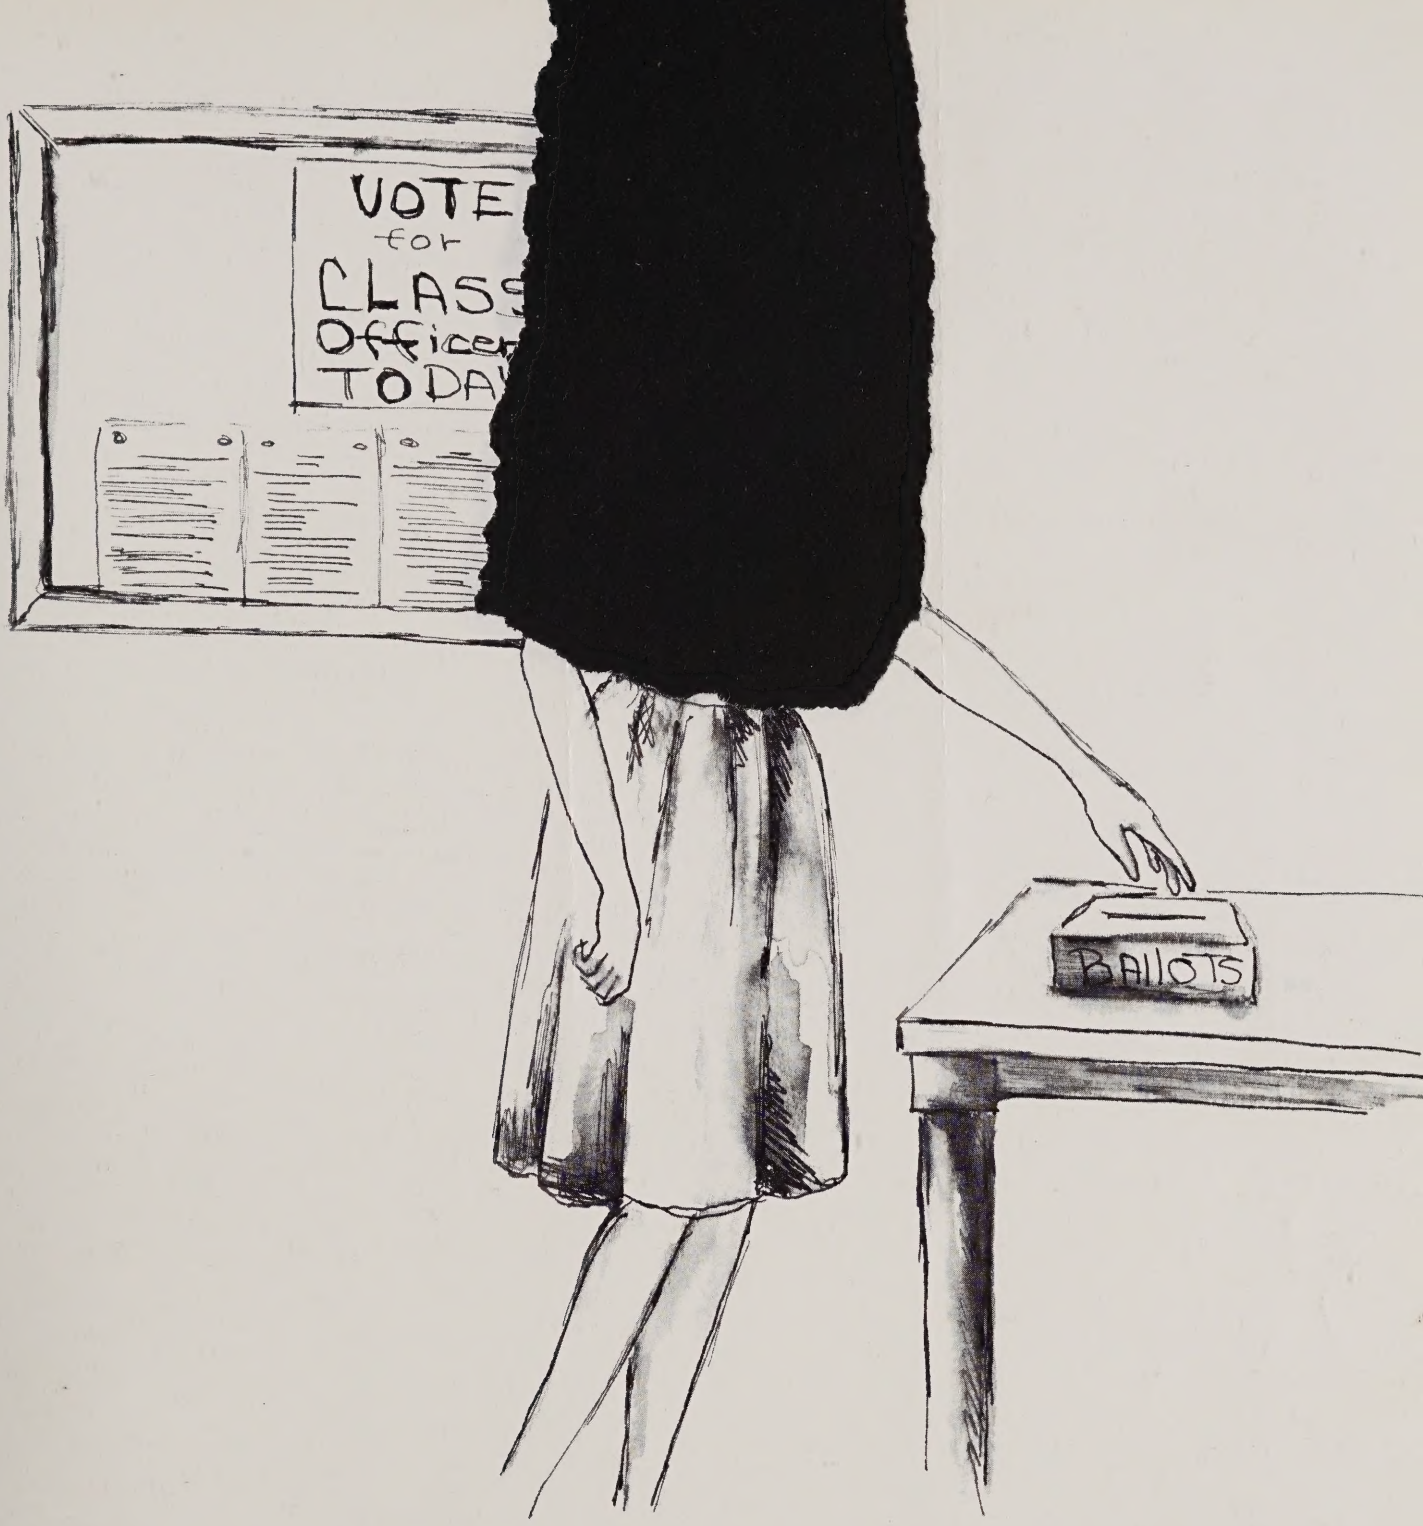
Sullins is relatively free from the class rivalries and jealousies which are prevalent in many other schools. The Freshman and Sophomore Classes work together in all aspects of life at Sullins. We live in a society in which conformity is stressed perhaps too much; it is difficult to be an individual. Here, each girl is accepted as herself without fearing undue criticism, if she insures this freedom to others by her own tolerance and understanding of them.



CLASSES

SO RES

Now in looking back over our two years at Sullins, we realize how very much the school has come to mean to us. Here we have matured considerably and have begun to learn the responsibilities of our personal freedom. We have learned to live with people, accepting their faults and recognizing their talents. Most of all, we have come to understand ourselves better. We have all contributed to each other's growth and to the spirit and well-being of Sullins.

Our memories of this year begin with the closing of last summer. We looked forward to seeing our old friends again and to meeting the new freshmen. Orientation Week at Camp Sequoya was a whirlwind of activities—lots of fun but hard work, making us recall our freshman days at the camp. Oh, how well we remember!

Classes began all too soon, but as well-adjusted sophomores we quickly settled down to work, knowing that we would have more time to enjoy our new privileges. The height of our sophomore status was being the leaders instead of the followers.

The various clubs were quickly organized; and we all worked together to sponsor many successful programs, dances, and banquets. Two highlights of the fall were the Powder Puff Football Game (our second victory!) and Rat Week. Many of our weekends were spent traveling to W. & L., V. P. I., U. Va., and U. N. C. for football games and fraternity parties.

Thanksgiving was here before we knew it. Many of us went home—others vividly remember the New York trip! With our return we found ourselves involved with the Christmas activities: the Christmas banquet, the announcement of the Mardi Gras Queen and Princess, the choir concert, caroling, the C. R. O. Christmas party for underprivileged children, and the closed curtain service. Feeling the true spirit of Christmas, we went to our homes for the holidays.

We may not be the world's best football players, but we certainly have enjoyed winning the Powder Puff Football Game both years.

As the New Year entered, so did our dread of exams. Even through all-night studying sessions and many cups of coffee, we managed to survive, looking forward to our semester break. Skiing at Gatlinburg attracted quite a few of us.

With the new semester, Mardi Gras festivities came and went, and then it was time to elect the May Queen and her court and the SAMPLER Superlatives. Twenty-one of us made Phi Theta Kappa.

For spring vacation it was off to an exciting week in Nassau, New York, D. C., Florida, or just our home town —but wasn't it good to be there!

The next few weeks sped by, filled with the Kentucky Derby weekend, sunbathing on the decks, after-dinner walks, and of course, hard studying.

Before we knew it, it was graduation time. How quickly the two years had passed! Our parents were all here; and together we enjoyed and participated in the May Court presentation, the Mother-Daughter Luncheon, the Graduation Ball, and finally graduation itself. Sadly we said good-bye to our teachers and friends, vowing to keep Sullins in our hearts.

FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS

Personal freedom—what is it?—What does it mean to freshmen? This question has concerned each freshman in every aspect of her life at Sullins. For during our freshman year we have achieved personal growth by making new friends from strange faces, by studying and working to become aware of our potentials, and by accepting responsibility when we were given greater personal freedom.

As freshmen, we experienced the confusion of college life during the first few weeks—getting to know our roommates, attending orientation meetings, learning new rules. At Camp Sequoya, we were introduced to placement tests, to the Cotton Pickers, to new faces, and to various clubs and activities. We came back to Sullins to encounter our counselors, teachers, and classes, as well as the sophomores we had not met at the Island. From the chattering groups in the cafeteria to the chapel assemblies—Sullins life was new for us! Gradually, however, we became less confused.

The sophomores surprised us with Rat Week. We learned to crawl to class and to tiptoe through the tulips. After Rat Week, we even learned to accept the victory of the sophomores in the Powder Puff Football Game! The excitement of our first weekend at V. P. I. and the unforgettable "mixers" at the Hut made our first quarter grades a little more bearable.

The election of class officers and the nomination of the Mardi Gras Court highlighted the second quarter. After our brief Thanksgiving break, the anticipation of Christmas vacation was spiced with such events as the Freshman Banquet, the announcement of the Mardi Gras Court, the choir concert, the C. R. O. Christmas party, and the inspiring closed curtain service.

A few short weeks after our return from Christmas vacation, we spent long, endless nights studying (cramming) for our first college exams. We enjoyed semester break! !

Mardi Gras was an exciting weekend for us.

Our next big event was Mardi Gras. With all the work and preparation for the weekend, proud parents and smiling classmates made the occasion a huge success for us. A trip to the Naval Academy and a "Playboy" Banquet closed the third quarter, as an attack of spring fever hit the campus.

Taking a trip to Nassau or home for spring vacation and going to the Kentucky Derby, later on, helped break up the long, final quarter. The hustle and bustle of the last few weeks brought laughter and tears, hopes and disappointments, with the election of our officers for next year, the announcement of the new Cotton Pickers, and good-byes to the sophomores.

Along with developing a keener awareness of ourselves, we have learned that the spirit which gives an institution personality, life, and vitality comes from, and can only be as fine as, the individuals who comprise it. Through this knowledge, each of us has become a link in the Class of 1967, and we look forward to making next year an even more rewarding experience.

Many organizations exist on our campus; there is a place for each girl in at least one of these clubs. Belonging to a group composed of girls who have mutual interests gives us an opportunity to better develop ourselves and to use our individual talents to benefit the entire group. Club activities are a definite part of our lives at Sullins, and they help us to help ourselves as well as the school as a whole.

The Student Government at Sullins begins with the Presidents' Council, which is the legislative and administrative branch. It supervises the elections of campus officers, coordinates the activities of campus clubs, and helps formulate policy.

The Council consists of its officers, the presidents of all organizations on campus, the vice-president of the student body and of the Judicial Council, and the social chairmen of the classes.

This year the Council has planned the social calendar, sponsored an informal dance and semester break party, opened the Hut for girls and their dates on the weekends, and provided each student an address book.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL

The Judicial Council represents the judiciary body of the Student Government. It is the responsibility of the Council to see that fine standards of college life are developed and upheld.

The Board not only protects the rights of all students, but it also upholds the rules of conduct as stated in the handbook. It strives to improve social, moral, and academic behavior and to create the harmony necessary for successful college life.

The Judicial Council consists of a president, vice-president, three Sophomore Class members and two Freshman Class members elected at the end of each semester, and a Faculty Advisory Committee.

Its responsibilities include carrying out regulations and seeing good standards observed, as well as enhancing student welfare and development.

Each Council is composed of a Sophomore and a Freshman member from each floor, elected each semester by the classes. Weekly meetings are presided over by the house president, at which time problems and suggestions are submitted to the Council.

Through patience, diligent work, and cooperation, the Sampler Staff has compiled a record in pictures and words of this year at Sullins, in the hope that the 1966 Sampler will bring back happy memories to you in the years to come.

Early in September we were faced with the very basic problem of the selection of a theme which would adequately represent our year. The theme "Personal Freedom—What Is It?" was selected only after we had examined and discarded several other possibilities.

Tomee admires last year's All-American Honor Rating and tries to pick up some hints from the Yearbook Guidebook.

Hynda points out some possibilities for ads.

The problem of balancing the budget brings a very serious expression to Margaret's face.

Once the theme had been settled, we spent many hours determining how best to illustrate our idea. After that came the making of a layout, taking pictures, writing copy, selling ads, and meeting all those countless deadlines! !

However, we did not work all the time. We sponsored a dance in October and a banquet in April. Our moment of triumph came in May when we held a special assembly to announce the dedication and the Sampler Superlatives and to distribute the copies of the 1966 Sampler.

Without the Reflector, the monthly newspaper, the students would be truly in the dark as to what is happening around campus. The paper also keeps faculty, parents, and alumnae informed about events and student activities.

Along with its news items, the Reflector also displays creative and artistic talent in the form of editorials, poems, cartoons, and feature stories. The Reflector Staff welcomes constructive criticism and encourages students to voice their own opinions.

CAMPUS RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATION

OFFICERS

One of the most active organizations on the Sullins campus is the C. R. O., sponsored by Miss Jane Gregg. It is a non-denominational service organization which provides spiritual leadership and promotes Christian fellowship among the students.

Every student is eligible for membership in the C. R. O. The members of the Council planned the closed curtain services which were held before Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter vacations. There impressive services inspired prayer and quiet meditation. The Council also planned the regular Friday morning chapel services. These programs included addresses by local and out-of-town ministers.

The highlight of the year was the annual Christmas party for the underprivileged children of Bristol and the surrounding area. A big Christmas tree was placed in the auditorium, and the many presents for the children filled up the stage around the tree.

This year, the dream of the Little Chapel is becoming a reality. The small, intimate prayer chapel is located at the end of the formal rose garden. It provides an appropriate place where individuals may go for quiet meditation.

Work on the new Little Chapel had progressed this far in March, 1966.

We will never forget those smiling faces at the C. R. O. Christmas party.

PHI THETA KAPPA

After signing her name, Libby receives congratulations from Mr. Knipe.

Our only Greek letter organization on campus is Phi Theta Kappa, the national honorary scholastic society for two-year colleges. Each year sophomores who have displayed qualities of scholarship, leadership, and character are selected for membership.

This year, twenty-one sophomores were asked to join the honorary society. President Martin and Mr. Knipe, the sponsor, conducted the initiation on March 30. Following the ceremony, the Reverend Harold W. Minor, Jr., pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church in Bristol, gave an address.

One of the three honorary organizations on campus is the Science Club, which limits its membership to those students who make a B average in science and math. The purpose of the club is to create an interest in all phases of science by giving the students a better understanding of the importance of science in modern life.

This year, the Science Club donated a tree and a section of the rose garden in memory of Mrs. Frances Elam and Carol Perkins, respectively. The highlight of the year was the Science Club banquet, at which thirty new members were admitted.

CAMPUS CHEST

OFFICERS

Charlotte Norris, Treasurer; Suzanne Rogers, Vice-President; Mildred Raymer, Secretary; Lucia Baggs, President.

The Campus Chest is the Sullins student charity organization, to which most of the students make pledges. The funds go to about fifteen charities, selected on the basis of votes from the students themselves.

New on the list of recipients this year is Operation Headstart, in which one of our graduates took part last summer and several more intend to join this year. Another new venture for the organization this year was its participation in the Queen of Hearts Contest, sponsored by the Bristol Heart Association.

The Campus Chest members earn their expense money by engaging in various projects, such as the sale of sandwiches in the dormitory this year. They also collected food for needy local families at Thanksgiving, a most rewarding experience both for the families and for the students who participated.

SPANISH CLUB

Although the Spanish Club is in its second year of existence here at Sullins, it has already established the reputation of being an interesting and educational organization. The club has had many programs that have enabled the girls to gain a better understanding of Spanish countries and Spanish-speaking peoples.

The club has had a variety of programs this year. Various types of Spanish dances have been demonstrated, slides have been shown, and speeches have been made concerning different countries. Serenades of Spanish folk songs have also been given.

During the Fine Arts Festival, the club presented one of the last great classics of Spain's Golden Age of Literature: La Vida es Sueño, by Pedro Calderón de la Barca. Spanish folk songs, representative of the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries, were sung also.

STUDENT ART GUILD

The requirements for membership in the Student Art Guild are a B average, a true interest in art, and outstanding ability. Once these requirements are met, the members of the Guild are chosen and initiated in the spring of their freshman year. Quite often the S.A.G. works as a service organization, creating beautiful scenery for various school functions from plays to the Mardi Gras and Dance Department productions. The Art Guild is invaluable to the college. The members are frequently asked to make decorations, posters, or notices for organizations.

In March the Guild sponsored a banquet using a bunny-club theme. The students delighted in the original decorations, and the Guild members dressed in bunny costumes. The S.A.G. has also contributed considerably to the cultural atmosphere of the college by sponsoring all of the exhibitions in the Hut and the Library, including the outstanding graduation exhibit at the end of the year.

SULLINS PLAYERS

OFFICERS
Sue Weatherford, Treasurer; Ann Marie Florence, Secretary; Joan Niedermayer, Vice-President; Patti Mandas, President.

The Sullins Players, our own theater group, presents a series of classical and modern plays throughout the year, as well as other productions. Talent from all over the country combined in the Players this year to present some of the best plays ever given on the Sullins campus. The first two plays presented were modern ones—Edward Albee's "The American Dream" and "The Sandbox"—which were a tremendous success. Mr. Brian Vachon of the Bristol Herald Courier said, "The Albee plays presented last night at Sullins . . . could have been placed on any stage anywhere and received the enthusiastic approval they merited and gained last night." The Players also put on Mary Chase's delightful and hilarious Harvey, which was a refreshing change from a serious play with a message to a pure comedy.

A fairly new and popular part of the Players is the Speaking Choir. In March the Choir contributed to a convocation on the Romantic Period. Both the plays and the Speaking Choir were directed by Mr. Olsen, the club's sponsor.

The Players also presented a series of films on campus: The Mouse That Roared, Sweet Smell of Success, and Cry, The Beloved Country. In addition, the club sponsored Peanut Week, which enabled the girls to become better acquainted.

Mrs. Fleming, Accompanist; Mr. Fleming, Choir Director.

The forty-one voiced Sullins Choir opened its full season of activities in December when it presented the annual Christmas Concert. The group, beautifully attired in identical fern green formals, offered a varied program of sacred and secular Yuletide music to a "standing-room only" audience. Jeanne Grochola, sophomore, assisted in the accompaniment of two numbers, playing a soprano recorder. Mr. Jere King, percussionist, also joined the Choir in two secular selections.

In February, the Choir presented the second half of the gala Mardi Gras program. Following the varied ballet, the Choir offered selections from the Broadway musicals State Fair, Kiss Me Kate, and Hit the Deck. Also, the group sang two selections by J. S. Bach in "Swingle-Singers" style. Soloists with the Choir included David Deaderick, baritone folk-singer and guitarist; Don Hyatt, tenor; and Edwin Miller, bass. Donna Forbes, sophomore soprano voice major, presented one of the highlights of the evening, singing "My Funny Valentine." Also assisting the Choir were Hamp Richardson, trumpet soloist; J. C. Vance, on string bass; Jere King, percussionist; and Charles Goodwin, organist.

CHOIR

The most important program of the year was the joint concert presented in April by the Sullins Choir and the Columbia University Men's Glee Club of New York City. The first part of the concert was given by the visiting Columbia group. The Sullins Choir joined the forty-six male singers to sing the Mozart Missa Brevis in F Major (K. 192). This work was accompanied by the noted Ciompi String Quartet. Mrs. Leon Fleming, Sullins accompanist, joined the famed string ensemble at the organ to accompany this major choral work.

The visit of the Columbia Glee Club included a reception for the two Choirs at the home of President and Mrs. Martin, as well as a dance at the Hut following the concert. The concert by the Columbia Chorus at Sullins marked the final program of the group's extended Southern concert tour.

The Sullins singers concluded their busy and highly successful year with a spring concert during Commencement week, in the Sullins Chapel, and with selections which were sung at the baccalaureate service held at State Street Methodist Church.

DANCE CLUB

OFFICERS

The Dance Club, which consists of all students taking dance, is a favorite organization at Sullins and has contributed tremendously to the cultural atmosphere here.

Major performances this year have been at the Christmas program, Mardi Gras, the Fine Arts Festival, and May Day. The dancers gave a dramatic and moving performance following the Christmas Banquet. For this year's Mardi Gras performance, the Dance Department was honored in having two guest soloists: Mr. Gordon Peavy, a free lance dancer, and Mr. Robert Mullis, a member of the Concert Ballet Company of Bristol. The theme for Mardi Gras was "Music and Dance from Baroque to Contemporary."

During the Fine Arts Festival, the dancers joined members of the Music Department to give a performance with the theme "Mythical Realities—the Sounds of the Season." For their concluding program of the year, the Dance Club performed to Franz Schubert's Rosamunde on May Day.

Sullins wouldn't be the same without the jubilant faces of the Cotton Pickers. In their blue denim overalls, straw hats, and red- and white-checked shirts, the Pickers carry on a never-ending Sullins tradition.

It is surprising that such "cool sounds" can come from instruments such as spoons, clickers, bongos, ukes, a washboard, a tambourine, and even a washtub. The songs they sing are a combination of folk songs, contemporary songs, and original ones. The closeness of the girls is truly shown when they play "Dixie" and "Yankee Doodle," followed by the Alma Mater.

The Cotton Pickers are favorites not only at Sullins but in the whole Tri-Cities area. They have played for the Y.W.C.A., the Barter Theater, the Veterans Hospital in Johnson City, and the Chilhowie Lions Club, as well as at all of our Picker parties.

They have even come out with their own album entitled—what else—Cotton Pickers!

We have the freedom to develop ourselves physically as well as mentally; beyond required physical education classes, the amount of time we spend in athletics is left up to us. We may choose to participate in a number of athletic activities which are a welcome break from studies. As a member of a team, we learn to channel our efforts toward the benefit of the team. We learn to give, and we share in the wins and losses of our team as a whole.

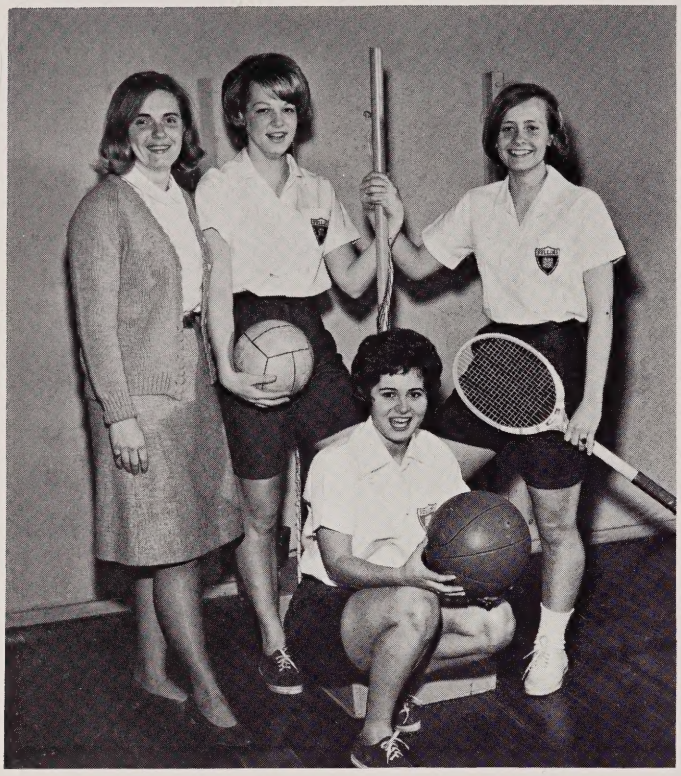
W.R.A. UNITS TRIGGER SPORTS ACTIVITIES



OFFICERS

This year the Women's Recreational Association tried something new by dividing the student body into fourteen competitive units. The units competed against each other in an intramural program consisting of volleyball, basketball, swimming, tennis, and softball. Also, the W.R.A. organized many athletic events for both individual and team sports.

Kicking off the season was the Powder Puff Football Game, which saw the sophomores victorious over the freshmen. Following the game, discussion of the bruising battle took place at a wiener roast for the entire student body.

Heated competition took place in the gym when the units met to decide the volleyball championship. However, the most tense moments were experienced as the girls were vying for the basketball honors and the right to play the faculty.

PACKED WITH MANY FUN-FILLED HOURS

The clash of hockey sticks is heard on a chilly November afternoon.

Another recreational achievement for the W.R.A. this year was the purchasing of a billiard table. The girls raised the money by raffling off a long distance phone call and selling sandwiches.

The W.R.A. banquet brought to a close this eventful year. Here recognition was given to participants in intramural, individual, and team sports, as well as to other outstanding individuals in the athletic program.

"To the victors go the spoils."

So when are we going to play volleyball?

HOOFPRINTS CLUB

OFFICERS

One of the most active clubs at Sullins, the Hoofprints Club is made up of girls who have a knowledge of horses and are able to pass a test of horsemanship. These horsewomen know how to saddle, bridle, and groom a horse, as well as how to ride.

Under the instruction of Miss Hatcher, they have been able to gain additional skill in riding; and through this skill they have been able to increase the club's already sizeable collection of ribbons and trophies.

The opening of the new Clubhouse has provided space for additional activities. It gives the girls a place to enjoy informal get-togethers, cook-outs, and just "plain ole horse talk."

This year the Hoofprints Club sponsored a Gymkhana, a dance, a banquet, and a trip to the Pennsylvania National Horse Show. The Spring Horse Show during Graduation Weekend proved to be one of the memorable highlights of the year.

VOLLEYBALL AND BASKETBALL TEAMS

Sullins opened its intercollegiate competition this year with volleyball, an addition to the program. Although it was a new activity, it proved to be a very successful one. The student body's enthusiasm added much to the new team's spirit. Hearing the cheers from the sidelines spurred them on to a rewarding season.

Although there were many bruised knees and sore muscles after each game and practice, the players worked as hard for the last game as for the first.

Oh, dear! A point for the opposition!

SCORE WHILE ENTHUSIASM MOUNTS

Linda scores two more for Sullins.

Under the guidance of Miss Foster and Miss Montgomery, the basketball team enjoyed a successful season this year. Once again the team received the cheers of the cheerleaders and students for their winning effort.

The team was very good, and every girl worked hard to make it that way. Although they did not win every game, they played each one right down to the wire. When they won, they were jubilant; but when they lost, they were able to show good sportsmanship.

A "perfect angel" in stunts and tumbling.

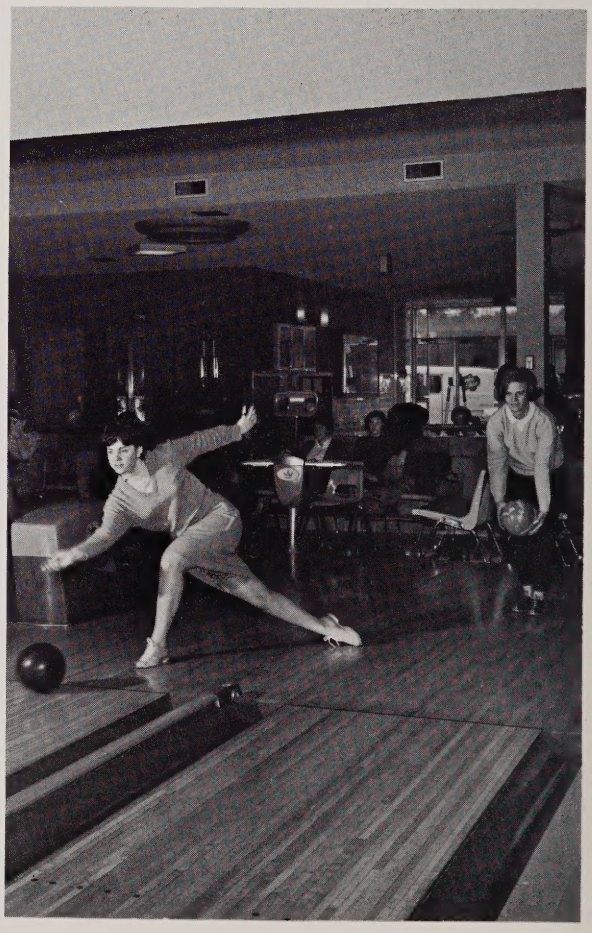
In stunts and tumbling, students strive for perfection of various skills, beginning with forward rolls and working up to the more difficult skills, such as the "flying angel." Physical fitness is the key to proficiency in these stunts.

SULLINS STRIVES FOR

Another one of the more popular activities is bowling. Although high scores and good form are desired, much enjoyment and relaxation are derived from bowling, even when one does not make a very high score.

The swimming courses range from the beginners' class, in which the basic skills are taught, to the Water Safety Instructor's course, where lifesaving and teaching methods are emphasized. In any class, students can be seen swimming laps.

Synchronized diving?

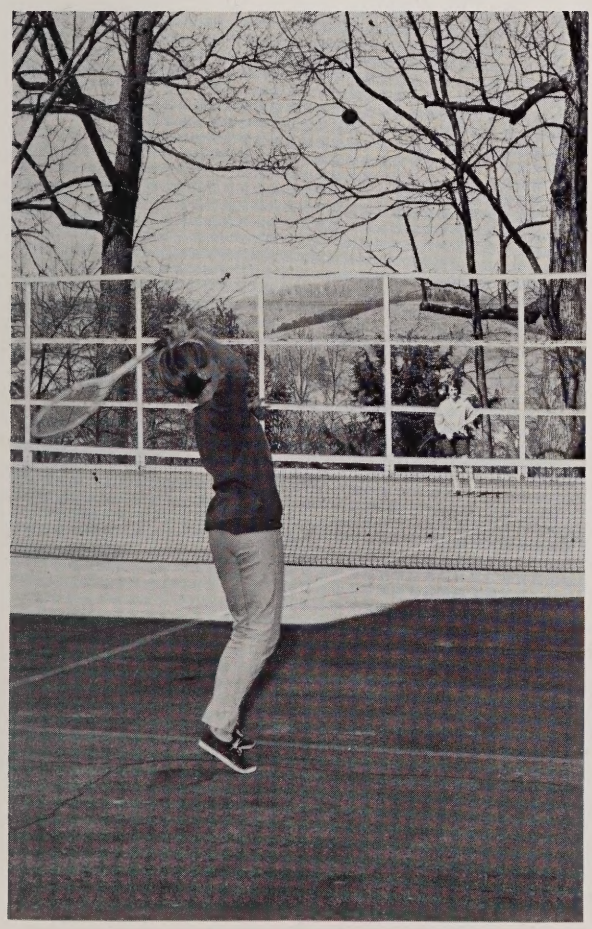


Get a strike, Pat!

Archery class presents a challenge for every girl who has the desire to develop an accurate aim. Safety is stressed because of the danger involved. The girls eagerly attempt this exciting sport, although they must work hard to perfect it.

Our ultimate goal is the bull's-eye.

PHYSICAL FITNESS



A little extra practice on the tennis courts.

Students are seen out on the tennis courts, regardless of the weather. In the spring, the courts are constantly filled with enthusiastic tennis players. This sport is one enjoyed by most girls at Sullins. A number of faculty members also play tennis.

The most energetic students participate enthusiastically in soccer, a fast-moving and popular sport. After a period of running up and down the soccer field and battling for the ball, the girls slowly trudge up the hill.

The White Team shoots for a goal.

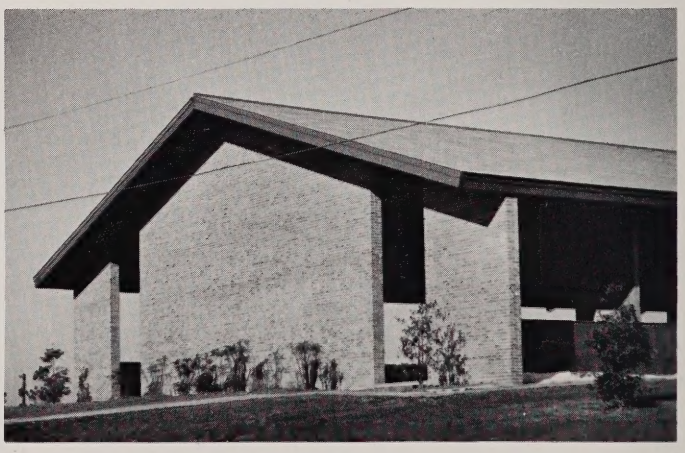
During the spring and fall, we enjoy swimming in the pool and sailing on Holston Lake.

ISLAND FUN LURES MANY FROM STUDIES

Camp Sequoya, better known as "The Island," has provided many Sullins girls with a chance to "get away from it all." Each weekend transportation and steaks were available for those girls interested in going to the camp. Miss Montgomery and Miss Foster were always on hand when the girls wanted to go.

The winter as well as the fall and spring afforded many fun-filled weekends. Sledding, snowball fights, and slumber parties by the fire were a part of our winter fun. Water skiing, tennis, sailing, swimming, and canoeing constituted our warm weather activities. We also enjoyed volleyball in the spacious gym.

The lodge is a favorite place for relaxing.



We play basketball and volleyball in the open-air gymnasium.

"Scotch and Soda."

Our first trip to the Island was during Orientation Week. It provided a relaxed atmosphere in which the freshmen were able to become acquainted with their classmates through activities such as the fashion show and the skits presented by the different halls. The enthusiastic performance by the Cotton Pickers also made the freshmen feel more at home and at ease with each other.

Picker parties, banquets, Hut dances, and Mardi Gras are all a part of our social activities. Through these we are able to find companionship and friendship in fun and laughter. We are free to choose the areas in which we wish to take part, and by our participation we achieve a fuller social development. Our actions may increase or decrease the enjoyment of others, and we try to be considerate of others as we have a good time together.

ACTIVITIES

AUTUMN

The Lake Day models wore some rather unusual outfits.

Our year began with the usual frantic rush of Orientation Week. At the end of this busy week, we all went to the Island for Lake Day. There, the Orientation Committee entertained us with a fashion show; later, the freshmen presented a talent show. We also enjoyed various sports, such as swimming, canoeing, and water skiing. Each activity brought us closer together as we became more at ease with each other.

Classes soon started; yet, in between the books, papers, and tests, we still managed to find time for fun. Many Sullins Susies will long remember the school-sponsored fall trip to V.P.I. Several dances were held in the Hut, where we had loads of fun meeting boys from the nearby colleges and learning the newest dance steps. Each month one of the clubs sponsored a banquet; amid clever decorations, we enjoyed a delicious and leisurely dinner by candlelight.

These freshmen presented one of the skits.

Dean Wheless' Open House gave us a chance to get better acquainted.

The Sullins Players gave an excellent performance of Albee's "The American Dream."

MEMORIES

The beauty of the freshmen during Rat Week was overwhelming.

Toward the end of October, the freshmen were wor riedly awaiting Rat Week. Finally, the dreaded night came when a gruesome-looking Sophomore Class stormed into the Freshman assembly and officially began Rat Week. During the next three days, the freshmen humbled themselves to the sophomores by dressing outlandishly, doing ridiculous stunts, and singing or reciting upon request. Both classes enjoyed Rat Week.

One of the most outstanding events of the fall was the Powder Puff Football Game between the freshmen and the sophomores. The game was preceded by an unforgettable pep rally. The sophomores presented their version of a Homecoming Queen and Court; then the freshmen presented a skit predicting a freshman victory. But their prediction proved false; after a hard-fought game, the sophomores emerged victorious. Both classes then enjoyed a wiener roast.

THE SPIRIT

One of the memorable Christmas events was the Choir Concert.

After we returned from a much-enjoyed Thanksgiving vacation, the wonderful spirit of Christmas seemed to appear suddenly through sparkling eyes and wide smiles, as everyone realized there were just three weeks until Christmas! There were so many activities to be packed into so little time!

The dancers presented a very moving Christmas program.

Soon each hall became a showplace with every door decorated in some unique style. Girls were running from dorm to dorm "ohing and ahing" over the sights to be seen. The hustle and bustle of Christmas spilled over into the annual Freshman Banquet. After the banquet, excitement mounted and tension grew as everyone rushed into the auditorium and eagerly awaited the announcement of the Mardi Gras royalty. Suddenly, the silence was broken with: "Betty Bowen, Queen! Susan Kohlhaas, Princess!"

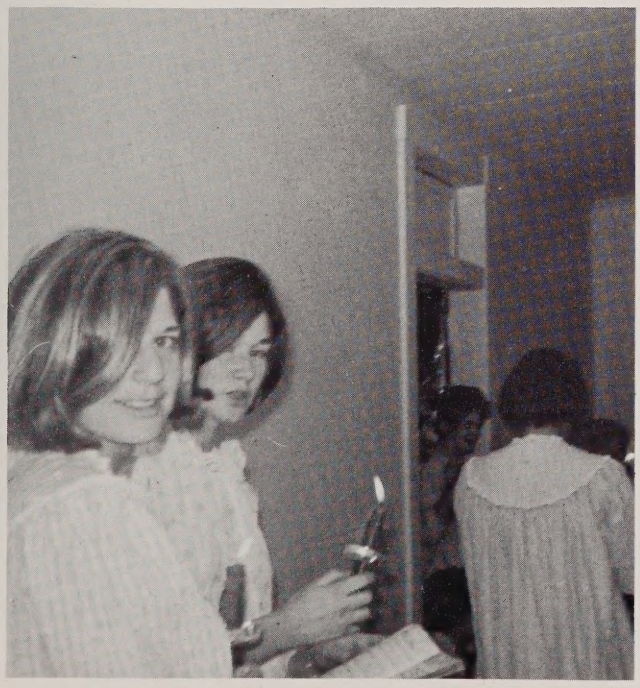
Everyone had a good time at the Freshman Banquet.

OF CHRISTMAS

The Christmas performances of the Choir and Dance Department proved to be a special treat for the entire student body. Many of us had fun caroling at the faculty homes with the W.R.A. Time was ticking by and plans for the C.R.O. party for our "Christmas children" occupied the spotlight.

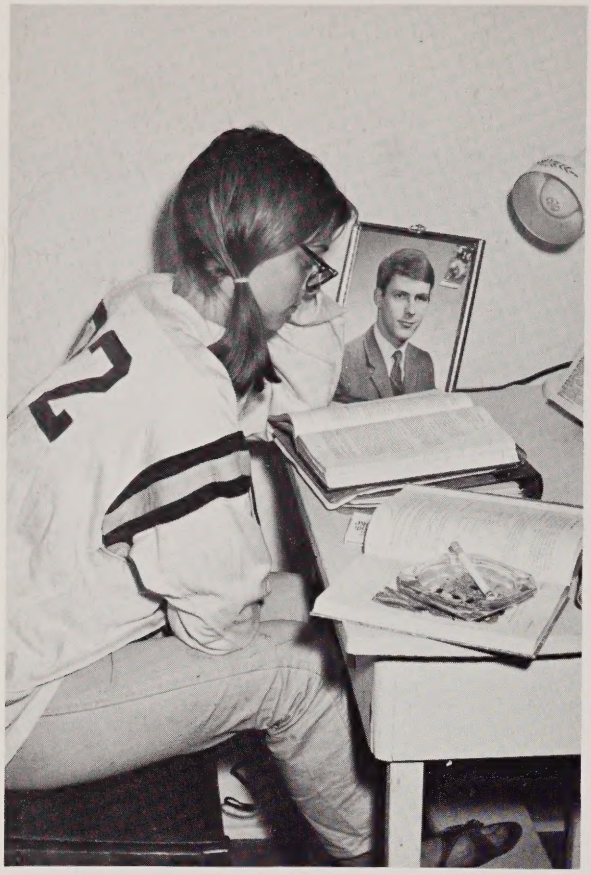
Santa and his helpers made the children's dreams come true at the C.R.O. Christmas party.

Finally it came. In the packed auditorium, laughter and talking subsided as jolly old St. Nicholas strolled down the aisle, pausing to pat some amazed, starry-eyed little child on the head. We had waited weeks for the moment when our child would climb on Santa's knee and receive his presents. Our eyes filled with tears as we realized the true meaning of Christmas. An impressive closed curtain service added an inspirational note. The following day we were homeward bound!



After the closed curtain service, the girls caroled in the dormitories.

"Stick 'em up!"



With all those "study aids," Donna should really be able to accomplish something.

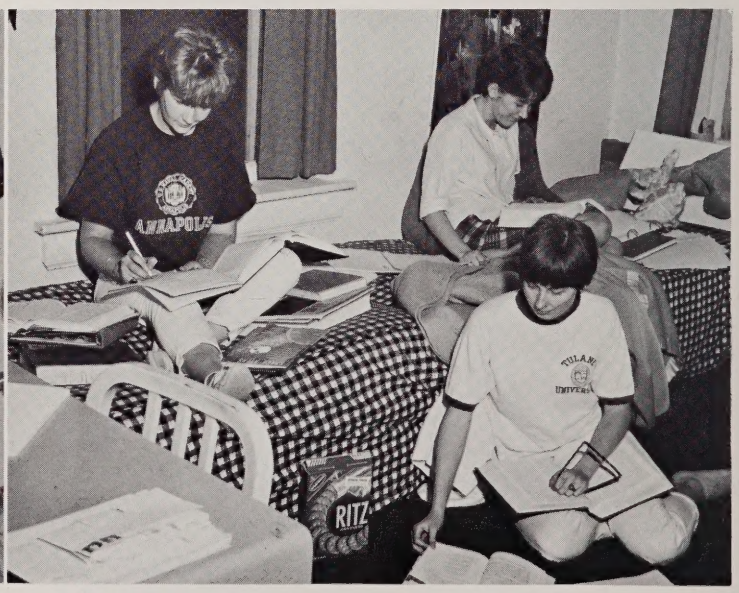
These two girls have found a comfortable place to study.

QUIET HOURS!

Holidays don't last forever, and neither did ours. Three weeks had zoomed by, and it was once again time to "dig in." Everyone began to realize that in a few short weeks that unmentionable subject would have to be mentioned—EXAMS!! The remaining weeks in the semester would by necessity be filled with cramming and studying in preparation for exams.

Suddenly those weeks had vanished and exams were upon us. There was an epidemic of pre-exam nerves. The halls acquired a somber stillness except for the bellows of "Quiet hours! I have an exam tomorrow." Red flags were seen on the doors, and we all burned the midnight oil. Black coffee and cigarettes seemed to be the sustaining medium from one exam to another.

Dressing up to study?



Nancy, Caroline, and Alice seem prepared to burn the midnight oil.

No one can remain blue at a Picker Party.

TIME OUT!

"Well, at least we kept him a little while—till we got caught!"

Fortunately, we didn't study twenty-four hours a day; and relaxation came in various forms. "Time out!" usually meant "Head for the Hut." Shouts of laughter and soothing words of advice were heard over a cup of coffee or a coke. Nature provided the perfect break—snow! Huge white snowdrifts made rough 'n' tumble tray-riding a bit softer. Snowball fights added extra gaiety.

The faithful Cotton Pickers pulled us through once more, adding a cheerful note to our exam-week blues. Then, just as suddenly as exams had come, they were gone. Hurrahs and hallelujahs and cries of "They're over!" rang throughout the campus. Everyone began to make final plans for semester break—either to go on a short vacation or to get some sleep.

Hard study makes big appetites.

Rumors of a mouse on the hall!

MARDI

BETTY BOWEN

Mardi Gras Queen

After exams were over, we eagerly awaited the coming of Mardi Gras, the highlight of the year. Our expectations were high, and we were certainly not disappointed. We remember so well each moment of that colorful and exciting weekend.

The festivities began with the official presentation of the Mardi Gras royalty. As the audience waited in breathless expectation, each member of the court, gowned in green and white, floated across the stage to her designated position. The excitement mounted as the pages took their places. The Princess, Susan Kohlhaas, gracefully made her sweeping curtsy. Then there was a hushed silence for an eternal moment as Betty Bowen was crowned Queen of Mardi Gras. Finally came the thundering applause! Flanked by her court, she looked truly elegant—a Queen in all her glory!

GRAS

Following the crowning of the Queen, the Dance Department and the Choir gave performances in her honor. Under the direction of Madame Valentina Belova, the dancers presented "Music and Dance from Baroque to Contemporary." Our accomplished ballerinas, along with guest artists Gordon Peavy and Robert Mullis, gave a magnificent performance, enhanced by effective costumes, scenery, and lighting.

The Sullins Choir, under the direction of Mr. Leon Fleming, presented the second half of the program. Framed by a superb backdrop created by the Art Department, the Choir offered selections from the Broadway musicals State Fair, Kiss Me Kate, Hit the Deck, and Anything Goes. Vocal and instrumental solos added that extra touch needed to complete a quite dynamic performance.

MARDI GRAS

Saturday morning came bright and early! Everyone dragged herself out of bed to greet what proved to be a very busy morning. An open house was held at the Hut and in every dom room. That afternoon, a gay affair called "Shinanagins" featured talented Sullins girls. The Cotton Pickers displayed their usual "get-up-and-go" in a sparkling performance which climaxed the event. Later in the afternoon, our parents and the faculty members had an opportunity to become acquainted at the reception at President Martin's home.

FESTIVITIES

At last, the night everyone had been looking forward to had come! The girls, attired in elegant gowns, their parents, and their dates packed the Holiday Inn Convention Hall for the 1966 Mardi Gras Ball. At ten o'clock, between ribboned aisles, the Queen and her Court, escorted by proud fathers or dates, were presented. We "waltzed and watusied" to the music of the Billy Knauff Orchestra until the clock struck twelve. The after-party with music by the Sensations provided the last dance for a never-to-be-forgotten weekend!

FAVORITES

JANE STENGEL
Mirror Girl, 1966

Each year the Reflector, our school newspaper, sponsors the Mirror Girl Contest. This girl is elected by the student body and must exhibit certain qualities: Reliability, Efficiency, Friendliness, Loyalty, Enthusiasm, Charm, Trustworthiness, Originality, and Responsibility; the first letters of these qualities spell Reflector. The 1966 Mirror Girl is Jane Stengel. As President of the Student Body, a friend to everyone, and a good student, Jane is a deserving recipient of this honor.

This year the Sophomore Class elected Susan Elrod as the 1966 representative from Sullins to the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, held annually in Winchester, Virginia. Susan's twinkling blue eyes, long blonde hair, and radiant smile assure us that Sullins was indeed well represented.

MAY PRINCESS AND COURT

May Day, another outstanding social event, was held in the Sylvan Theater the Friday before graduation. It was especially significant to us sophomores since it was one of our last social events at Sullins.

The 1966 May Queen, Dita Watson, and Princess, Gayle Knowles, and the two Pages and twenty members of the Court were presented to the students and their parents in an afternoon ceremony. The girls, dressed in pastel colors, and the greenery of the outdoor setting made a truly beautiful picture.

PAGEANT

Following the presentation of the Court and the crowning of the Queen, the Dance Department honored the Queen, the Princess, the Court, and the parents with its May Day performance. Each person in the audience watched intently as the dancers moved among the trees and flowers in the Sylvan Theater with fairy-like grace and beauty.

This performance was the final dance program of the year; and it provided the perfect ending to a lovely day.

The crowning of the May Queen highlights the afternoon.

HORSE SHOW

The highlight of the weekend for the many equestriennes at Sullins was the Commencement Horse Show. On Saturday morning the meticulously dressed girls mounted their well-groomed horses, and each girl waited her turn to compete. The riders demonstrated their skills by expertly guiding their horses over difficult jumps and through intricate workout patterns.

Each of the contestants did exceptionally well, and it was indeed difficult for the judges to choose the winners.

The final decision in the Equitation Class is made.

GRADUATION—

Jan and Margaret enjoy the art exhibit.

On Friday night we enjoyed an impressive art exhibit in the Art Studio. The variety of works displayed indicated a great deal of talent.

The Mother-Daughter Luncheon was held Saturday afternoon. After lunch, we told about some of the things that had happened to us at Sullins, and we enjoyed listening to our mothers reminisce about their college days.

Saturday night we danced under the stars at the Graduation Ball. The formal presentation of each sophomore by her father made our last night at Sullins all the more memorable.

The fathers are served a delicious buffet lunch at the Bailey home on Saturday.

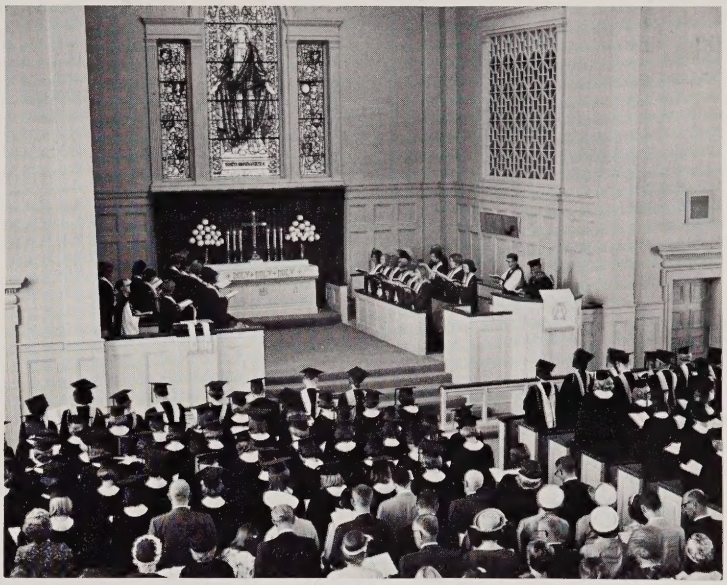
We danced under the stars at the Graduation Ball.

A TIME OF JOY AND SADNESS

Our last day at Sullins began with the inspiring Baccalaureate Service held at State Street Methodist Church. Afterwards, a smorgasbord was served in the Sullins dining room. We helped ourselves freely to the delicious food.

We spent the afternoon with our friends. During the past two years we had grown very close; soon we would be going our separate ways.

As we solemnly filed down the path in our caps and gowns to the Graduation Service, we realized that we had indeed gained much more than a diploma from Sullins.



The impressive Baccalaureate Service is held at State Street Methodist Church.

The Sunday Smorgrasbord is a real favorite with everyone.

President Martin hands out diplomas and his sincere congratulations.
